

Subject: Fwd: Warning for Females Alone in Parking Lots
From: Donald Duckworth <duckworth.donald@gmail.com>
Date: 01/29/2016 01:42 PM
To: Miki Payne2 <miki@hbdrollinger.com>, Steve Rhodes <snsrhodes4@gmail.com>, Chiraz Zouaoui <chiraz.z@citynationalsecurity.com>

FYI Please inform your personnel.

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Sue Piervin <spiervin@gmail.com>
Date: Fri, Jan 29, 2016 at 9:05 AM
Subject: Fwd: Warning for Females Alone in Parking Lots
To:

Nextdoor - Crime & Safety

Warning for Females Alone in Parking Lots 11h ago

Christine Dang from Westchester-West

Pay extra attention to anyone asking for help with their car in the parking lot. This evening there was a man who approached me to help him nudge his car back into his parking space because his car was stuck in a gear. He was NOT wearing any pants, and when a police car happened to enter the parking lot and park nearby, the man said "Nevermind" and went back into his car. Now, I don't know what his intentions are or what state of mind he was in, so I will leave it up for interpretation.

This happened at 6:50 pm Thurs. 1/28/2016 in the parking lot behind Staples on Sepulveda/La Tijera.

I called police dispatch a couple hours later and they were unable to send a car out because it wasn't something happening at the moment. I tried calling several police stations to file a report, but the lines were all busy, unfortunately.

Descriptions:

- The man: White male, brown hair, 40s or 50s, maybe 5'8/200 lbs, wearing a buttoned up white dress shirt and no pants.
- His car: A black Toyota or Hyundai compact car, license plate # 7MLG....